MARIUPOL, Ukraine — Russian forces pounded the Ukrainian port city of Mariupol on Saturday, shelling its downtown as residents hid in an iconic mosque and elsewhere to avoid the explosions. Fighting also raged in the outskirts of the capital, Kyiv, as Russia kept up its bombardment of other cities throughout the country.

Mariupol has endured some of Ukraine's worst punishment since Russia invaded Feb. 24. Unceasing barrages have thwarted repeated attempts to bring food, water and medicine into the city of 430,000 and to evacuate its trapped civilians.

More than 1,500 people have died in Mariupol during the siege, according to the mayor's office, and the shelling has even interrupted efforts to bury the dead in mass graves.

Meanwhile, talks aimed at reaching a cease-fire again failed Saturday as Russian President Vladimir Putin laid out terms for ending the war, including Ukraine's demilitarization and its ceding of territory. Putin also threatened to seize the assets of U.S. and Western companies that have announced they are leaving Russia over the invasion.

For his part, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy accused Russia of employing "a new stage of terror" with the alleged detention of a mayor from a city west of Mariupol, and once again deplored NATO's refusal to declare a no-fly zone over Ukraine.

humanitarian convoy that was trying to reach the city and blocked another, a Ukrainian official said. Ukraine's military said Russian forces captured Mariupol's eastern outskirts, tightening their siege of the strategic port.

"They are bombing it (Mariupol) 24 hours a day, launching missiles. It is hatred. They kill children," Zelenskyy said during a video address.

Satellite images released Saturday by the company Maxar showed fires in parts of the city and extensive damage to apartments, homes and other infrastructure.

The Ukrainian government said Saturday that the Sultan Suleiman Mosque was hit, but an unverified

Instagram post by a man claiming to be the mosque association's president said the building was spared.

In Irpin, about 12 miles northwest of Kyiv, bodies lay out in the open Saturday on streets and in a park.

"When I woke up in the morning, everything was covered in smoke, everything was dark. We don't know who is shooting and where," resident Serhy Protzenko said as he walked through his neighborhood and as explosions sounded in the distance.

Zelenskyy on Saturday reported that 1,300 Ukrainian soldiers had died since the Russian invasion began.

The president again slammed NATO's refusal to declare a no-fly zone over Ukraine and said Ukraine has sought ways to procure air defense assets, though he didn't elaborate.

Zelenskyy also accused Russia of detaining the mayor of Melitopol, a city 119 miles west of Mariupol. After residents of the occupied city demonstrated for the mayor's release Saturday, the Ukrainian leader called on Russian forces to heed the calls.

In multiple areas around Kyiv, artillery barrages sent residents scurrying for shelter as air raid sirens wailed. Britain's Defense Ministry said Russian forces that had been massed north of the capital had edged to within 15 miles of the city center and spread out.

Ukraine's military and volunteer forces have been preparing for an all-out assault on the capital. Zelenskyy said Saturday that Russia would need to carpet-bomb Kyiv and kill its residents to take the city.

"They will come here only if they kill us all," he said. "If that is their goal, let them come."

Meanwhile, French and German leaders spoke Saturday with Putin in a failed attempt to reach a cease-fire.

In a 90-minute call with French President Emmanuel Macron and German Chancellor Olaf Scholz, Putin spoke about "issues related to agreements under discussion to implement the Russian demands" for ending the war, the Kremlin said without providing details.

Zelenskyy told Israeli

Prime Minister Naftali Bennett on Saturday that he would be open to meeting Putin in Jerusalem to discuss an end to the war, but that there would first have to be a cease-fire.

Bennett recently met in Moscow with Putin, who has ignored previous offers of talks from Zelenskyy.

A senior Russian diplomat also warned that Moscow could attack foreign shipments of military equipment to Ukraine.

Speaking Saturday, Deputy Foreign Minister Sergei Ryabkov said Moscow has warned the United States "that pumping weapons from a number of countries it orchestrates isn't just a dangerous move — it's an action that makes those convoys legitimate targets."
